

Day One Thursday:

This was not that bad! I got up and made coffee like normal and actually cooked breakfast for everyone. Then by the time we got Colby off to school and dressed it was time to get to work. When I got to work I answered all my emails and sent any I needed to. Then that night we had the Little Elm Event we were taking Dorothy Wags, and Henry to. This was not over till after 8:00pm and then we had several of the Wiggly Play Center staff come over for a little while since we were close to our house. This way we could feed them since they had done such a great job tonight. So I never had time to miss the computer.

Day Two Friday:

I got up made coffee and cooked breakfast for everyone again. This is a nice change all sitting down together for breakfast. I would have normally gone into the office and started my emails. I even had time to watch Spongebob Squarepants with Colby. Got Colby off to school and got dressed for work. I now have 15 minutes to wait for Stephanie to finish getting dressed. This actually is the first time I have really had any time to miss being able to get on the email in the morning. I don't know what to do with myself! Friday the family went out to the Grapevine's Main Street Halloween Event with Barbara and Tine from Metroplex Baby. So it was late when we got back home so this was not an issue.

Day Three and Four the Weekend:

The weekend went by very fast between working on Saturday and taking Colby out Trick or Treating for Halloween. There was not any time to miss being on the email. Sunday was nice as I slept in for the first time in a long time. But Sunday night was a little hard when I realized I could not check my messages one last time before calling it a night.

Day Five Monday:

Got up and made my coffee and then went to the computer realized I can't check it yet. So I made everyone some breakfast and sat down with Colby to watch a little high quality TV (Spongebob again). I say this but as Stephanie points out I am sitting in here watching it and laughing and Colby has left for school already and I should have already gotten dressed for work. Monday night was not bad because Stephanie and I played the Wii with Colby until it was time to go to bed.

Day Six Tuesday:

I realize that I like Spongebob and this is not that bad not checking my email before I go to work. I really have to get a life!! As I am such a creature of habit, that I have the same routine almost every day. I had never realized it before. Get up make coffee check emails or watch TV.

Day Seven Wednesday:

Oh thank god last day!! I am off today so when I got up I had lots of things to do. I need to take my motorcycle to get the inspection done. And what an excuse this will make to go for a ride and not do my honey do list from Stephanie. I was busy all morning trying to get things done at the house, so I could get out of the house so I had no time to even check the email till after 8:05am. Last day I can make it now! And if I set the TV to record Spongebob I can check the email and not miss it.
